

Please excuse cross-postings - please disseminate.

En français

Health Information @your library[®]

Free access to resources

As a health professional, are you looking for high-quality information to help you and your patients?

New Brunswick's public libraries give you free access to a wide range of resources for health information online 24/7. All you need is your public library card!

Access The Cochrane Library and other Electronic Resources online through New Brunswick's public libraries.

To access these electronic resources:

- 1) Visit www.gnb.ca/publiclibraries
- 2) Click on Electronic Resources
- 3) Enter your library card number
- 4) Choose from the following resources:

 THE COCHRANE COLLABORATION[®]	The Cochrane Library is an electronic resource that contains reviews on the effectiveness of healthcare treatments. In addition to its reviews, The Cochrane Library provides other sources of reliable information, such as individual clinical trials, assessments, and evaluations. All the latest evidence on the current theories is available in one resource to help you make informed decisions.
	Health Source: Consumer Edition offers authoritative information on consumer health-related questions ranging from nutritional guidelines to the latest treatments for cancer.

	Electric Library includes publications on general topics, such as health.
	Repère includes French-language publications on general topics, such as health. It is only available in French.
	Canadian Newsstand gives access to a wide selection of Canadian daily newspapers.

New Brunswick’s public libraries are great places for you and your patients to find health-related information!

If you would like more information, please communicate with your public library or bookmobile.

